ME AN' JIM.

Where me an' Jim played marbles—Jim Clarke, his name in full—There's still a village only there, an' passin' days are dull.
But them old times the locust shades
re'ched clear across the street,
The white blooms hangin' over us—seen nothin' since so sweet.
An' Jim could, I remember well, plump out the middle man
As easy's some wild cowboy now with his good rifle cut.
An' seems I hear: "My go this time," as plain as then it rung
When me an' Jim played marbles an' Jim an' me wuz young.
The boys, I guess, have wandered off, an'
maybe some are dead.
The locust trees have rotted down where once their shadders spread.
The old-like village, no doubt, are seen no more where they Sot on the fence an' watched the game that they when young would play.
But still I yearn to wonder back, an' under that old sky
Look my last look on boyhood's scenes
when I shall come to die,
An' rest forever nigh where trees their lovin' shadders flung
Where me an' Jim played marbles when Jim an' me wuz young.

SYNOPSIS.

Master Ardick, just reached his majority and thrown upon his own resources, after stating his case to one Houthwick, a shipmaster, is shipped as second mate on the industry, bound for Havana. Mr. Tym, the supercargo, desecrates a sail. The strange vessel gives chase, but is disabled by the industry's guns. In the fray one of the crew is killed and Houthwick is seen to fall. The captain is found to be dead, but the industry is little damaged. Sellinger, first mate takes charge and puts into Sidmouth to secure a new mate. Several days later, when well out to sea, an English merchantman is met, whose captain has a letter addressed to Jeremiah Hope, at Havana. The crew of the vessel tell strange tales of the buccaner Morgan, who is sailing under the king's commission to take Panama. One night a little later, the English vessel having proceeded on her course, a bit of paper is slipped into Ardick's hand by one of the sailors.

CHAPTER V.

OF A VERY STIRRING PIECE OF BUSINESS.

I was eager and I might say anxious to know what the slip of paper contained, and determined to examine it without delay. I would not take it to the binnacle, for there the helmsman might see me, and yet I was for making use of the binnacle lantern. I ascended the poop ladder, turning over a little plot in my mind, and when I was nearly up with the binnacle box I stopped and uttered a sharp exclamation.

"Shining!" I growled. "Curses light on the villainous tailor that must leave a pocket as open as a chimney! I took it out of the box without waiting for his consent and whisked it around to the hither side. The fellow dare not leave his tiller, even had he sufficient interest or curiosity to do so, and for the instant I was safe. I held the paper low that none forward could make me out, and on spreading it open discovered that it bore a few lines of most villainous, ugly writing. They had the seeming, indeed, of having been traced with a bit of charcoal or the point of a charred stick. I brought all my clerical powers to bear, and, in quicker time than I could have thought possible, finally deciphered the words. Luckily they were few in number. "Men be going to mutiny" (so the missive ran). "Fower days. The mate, hee is the leader. I am watched."

It seemed to me at that moment that the fellow at the wheel must have heard the throb my heart gave. I looked at him as I straightened up—at his black outlines, as he bowed over the tiller tackle—and hung for the moment all in the wind.

I left him and walked leisurely to the head of the ladder, whence, with a careless air, I surveyed the deck. By the faint light of the stars I could make out the dim shapes of two of the men, and a red spark by the foot of the mainmast, where a third was at the moment starting his pipe. None were very near, which was the thing I would know. The foot of the poop must lie well in shadow, so that one slipping up to the companion and slyly opening it would run but small risk of being seen. I was heavy and heartsore under the sudden smiting of this business, and could not yet persuade myself that it was all true, or bring myself into the heart of it to appreciate it.

I threw one swift glance around and saw no one apparently looking. The two nearest men had swung about and were facing aft, and the smoker had hunched partially around, giving me the square of his shoulder. Now was my opportunity. I darted in, closing the door after me. A glance showed that a lighted lantern hung against the mast, but the berth was empty. I stopped for nothing further, but scroled long and softly toward the captain's cabin. This was the first—counting from the starboard side—of the three after rooms, the next being occupied by the mate and the third by the supercargo. I skirted the table and reached the door and put out my hand to rap gently upon it. While yet my knuckles were presented the door farthest on my right—that is to say, the supercargo's—abruptly opened and Mr. Tym himself put out his head.

I fell back a step, not being prepared for this interruption, and ere I could speak or utter a caution he strode out and hailed me sharply: "Stand! What do you seek?"

"Hist, hist!" I said, in a sharp whisper. "A word with you, if you will, but no noise."

By this time he recognized me, which now I saw that he had not at first, and he fell back without a word, and motioned for me to enter. I whipped in with all speed, and immediately that I was past him he gently closed the door.

I immediately advanced my lips to his ear, and acquainted him, in the fewest words possible, with what was doing. "Speak cautiously, sir," I concluded, "for you know the mate's berth adjoins this."

He took away his head, and looked at me as one thunderstruck. Instead of answering, he plucked off his banyan and put them in the case, and walked to the window. I conceived that he might be collecting his wits, which must be a little shaken, and that without any impairment of his courage. Clapping up his hand to guide the sound, he said in my ear:

"We will confound the arch villain. Stay but a moment, till I can prepare, and we will be about it."

My own spirits and courage rose at this, and I stood up very sturdily, as I nodded assent.

He thereupon softly advanced to the wall, whence he took down his sword and buckled it on, and from beneath his bunk produced a box, which proved to contain a brace of pistols, with powder and ball.

He handed these weapons to me with a sign to load them, and while I was obeying him he took from a covered sheaf against the bulkhead a little iron tool, which at first I took to be a kind of awl, and this he proceeded to screw into the wooden cap of his arm, having first removed the iron hook.

I was now ready to hear him declare his plan, but he first took from a nail a coil of small cord, after which he whispered in my ear:

"Before aught else is done we must secure the mate. That stands clear in my mind. And we may not wait to summon the captain, lest the fellow take the alarm. Mark me, I will knock on his door, and say I desire to speak with him. On his appearance we will each clap a pistol to his head—take you this—and compel him forth and bind him."

He softly opened the door, and we stole out. As I crossed the threshold, I heard a sharp, sudden little knocking from somewhere in the shadow of the table. It gave me a start, and I glanced that way, only to discover that which affected my nerves a vast deal more. A tall but stooped figure made a seramble from all fours to its feet, and with one long, straddling bound was bursting out of the companion.

"Pradey!" yelled the supercargo, and let fly with his pistol. I could see that he was too late, and thereupon, with a shock of alarm and mortification, I made a dash of it also, and flew through the open door. The mate was bounding off the quarter deck to the main, shouting out something which I did not catch, and in a veritable fury I let go my pistol. I could not have made a close shot, but his yelling increased, and now I could see the crew pouring out of the forecastle hatch, and the watch running toward him. I had the sense to perceive that all was up, and sullenly retreated, stopping at the companion to shoot the bolt of the door.

When I turned about, though the place was still a little smoky, I made out both the supercargo and the captain, the latter in his shirt, with a drawn sword in his hand.

"Pray you dress," said Mr. Tym, with excellent coolness, as the captain stood fast, glaring fiercely toward the companion. "Nay, we are safe enough for the moment," he added, glancing down at the door leading into the 'tween-decks, which I now perceived he had secured.

"The abominable villain!" growled Sellinger, relaxing his warlike attitude, however, and lowering his point. "I will take your advice, and be with you presently."

He withdrew into his berth, and Mr. Tym said to me, almost humorously: "Abominable or not, he played a shrewd part, and is like to reap the reward of it. A very pretty piece of eavesdropping, indeed."

"How will it be with us now?" I asked, aloud. "Can we make a sufficient defense, think you?"

"Nay," he answered, coolly, "not if they stand to it with heart. You conceive that they have in all points the advantage. They can starve us out—for we have nothing beyond a few biscuits, and no drink but wine—or can batter in the doors, and bear us down by main force; or they can set a watch upon us, and keep us boxed up here till they reach some convenient point, when they can scuttle the ship, and leave us in the plight of so many inconvenient kittens."

"Stay!" I cried, as a sudden thought struck me. "I think they will be at none of that. I mean the scuttling. Remember you not the magpie from the Happy Bess? He that yarned so concerning Morgan? I am ready to swear that his talk and the mate's scheming have brought this about. These rogues will be for turning pirates."

I had just uttered this when Capt. Sellinger came out of his cabin. He was fully dressed, save for his coat, and was now armed with a brace of pistols in addition to his sword.

"I believe you have hit the nail on the head," cried the captain, with a savage slap on the table. "Oh, that snake! Aye, he is at the bottom of it. These simpletons would not have risen but for him. On my soul, never was a crew better treated. Such pork and such beef, and such soft tack on Sundays, and then the scouse and the ale! Ah, well, it avails not talking of it. What is your counsel, Master Tym?"

"My counsel is of the simplest," answered Mr. Tym, without hesitation. "We should stand clear of the doors, lest they take it into their heads to shoot through, and watch sharply every point at which they might seek to catch us at advantage."

"I think they are coming," I said, as coolly as I could. Secretly my heart began to thump. "Aye, and another gang advances 'tween-decks," I added, as I also heard a stir there.

"Stand ready," said the supercargo, in low, hard tones. "All together with the pistols, and then a rush. Yet tarry till the rams, or what else they may batter with, have made a fair opening. Master Ardick, you have no sword; therefore remain somewhat back. Also I would counsel you to whip your cloak about your left arm, that it may serve in a sort as a shield. Pisto's forward, friends! They come!"

CHAPTER VI.

OF THE STAND THAT WE MADE, AND DIVERS EVENTS THAT FOLLOWED.

I know not what manner of implements the fellow used, but they were passing effectual, for both doors crashed in at the first assault, and we caught sight of their pack of bodies and bristle of weapons. But an instant so, and then we all let go in a volley, making a tremendous noise in the small place and confusing everything with smoke. One fellow in the opening of a companion fetched a dreadful howl, as high-pitched as a dog's, and before the sound was well out of him thrust headlong forward and crashed down at our feet. The gang in the door thereupon set up a great roaring and cursing, and in the midst of it four or five of them dashed recklessly in. The foremost bent forward, and I saw his hand go out with a pistol in it, but before he could fire the captain let bang at him and he fetched up short and gave a queer sort of writhing bow and fell back upon the threshold. The others hung in the wind a moment, whereupon Capt. Sellinger raised a great shout and set upon them with his sword. I had a moment now to glance over my shoulder, and perceived that Mr. Tym was holding the others at bay, they, indeed, crowding together, cursing and stamping, but not offering to advance. Encouraged at this and wishing to be performing some part, I caught up Mr. Tym's cloak, which I had before neglected, wound it around my left arm, and, having exchanged the pistol for my sheathknife, advanced a pace and made ready to fall on. By this time the light in the place was exceeding dim, the smoke, though in part drawing up through the companion, continuing also about the lantern, till it had the seeming of a beacon in a fog. Nevertheless, upon looking with some intentness, I made out that the fellows the captain was fighting were three of the ordinary sailors, by name Tom Doll, Will Minton and Jack Walling, all men of fair courage but not extraordinarily able of body or of known skill with weapons.

He fetched up short.

"Have at one of these fellows, sir!" I shouted to the captain, and, disconcerted by picking out Doll, I made a bold dash and so dismayed the rascal that he fetched his blow at me before the time, and I closed with him ere he could get his hanger up again and dug my knife into his side. He collapsed like an empty sack, uttering a direful groan, and at the same moment the captain ran Minton through the heart. Walling, who was an active fellow, thereupon whirled short and with one flying bound cleared the door and landed well out upon the deck.

"That gives us riddance of so many of the rogues!" puffed the captain, who was by this time very short of breath. "Stay you here, Ardick, and guard the companion while I go to Tym's assistance. By St. Paul! he has little need of it, such poltroons as these fellows be!"

Mr. Tym had now fallen back a pace from his first station, for some of his adversaries had obtained pistols, and as we joined him they let go a sort of scattering volley. Their range was limited on account of the walls of the stairs, and no harm was done. There was a bit of silence, but not to mention, and immediately the whole gang came bursting up. Then it was that the supercargo acquitted himself rarely. Forward he darted, and before the first fellow, who happened to be Pierre Lovigne, could order his guard the little lithe man stooped, whipped in and passed his sword a foot through the burly rascal's midriff. Back two paces then, and, as the next fellow pressed on, the sword flew round, and with a sidelong stroke shore away two or three of the rascal's fingers. It was all while I seemed to be getting one long breath and letting it out again!

"Have at ye, scum!" yelled the captain, fired at this feat of arms, and he brandished his sword and ran in upon the now crowded and confused seamen.

Mr. Tym saw the opportunity and sprang to his side, and together they thrust and slashed so fiercely, and yet with such deadly skill, that three more of the sailors were either killed or desperately wounded, and the others broke and poured headlong down the steps.

The captain's blood was up, and he made to follow, but Mr. Tym caught him by the sleeve, and in a word or two showed him the danger of it, so that he reluctantly gave over.

All this time that arch traitor, the mate, had kept in the background, but now we heard his voice, and I conjectured that he was rating and perhaps trying to rally his men. It seemed that he had been in the rear of those who came up from 'tween-decks, but either from necessity or inclination had fallen back when Mr. Tym and the captain made their final onslaught.

But do what he could the fellows he was talking to had no heart for further ventures, and we heard them break away from him and retreat to the forward part of the ship. He must have followed, for it was immediately quiet 'tween decks, and so that point of our defense seemed to be safe enough. As for the companion, it still stood open, just as they had broken it in, but the misused door only banged at will with the motion of the ship, and no one appeared to be near it or to guard it.

We were now minded to investigate the condition of the fallen mutineers, and found all dead. Capt. Sellinger was for bringing the affair to a head without further parley, and would have us sally out and fall upon the fellows and cut them down if they would not surrender. Mr. Tym opposed this, saying we were still three against eight, not including the wounded sailor and old Lewson (the latter would hardly desert to us as yet), and in the open deck we could not expect to work such havoc as we had in the cabin. In the attack here they had fallen on us without order or precision, crowding together till they could not get the avail of their weapons, and missing their shots because of their hastiness, but on deck they could spread out and encompass us front and rear, and would be certain to be more circumspect. But for the surprise into which they had been thrown by the sudden call of the mate, it was doubtful if we could have gained the day as it was. "Better to wait, then," urged Mr. Tym, "and let the rascals call for a truce, which doubtless they will soon do, being now a light crew for the ship, and likewise lacking nautical instruments, those being all here in the cabin."

WORLD REVOLVES FOR THEM

Some Musicians Who Take Themselves So Seriously That Are Amusing.

There is nothing funnier than the musician who takes himself tremendously serious. I mean "himself," not music, which is a very different thing. Empires may totter, republics rise up in their places, but the musician of whom I am speaking is not in the least affected by either. A wholesale massacre does not impress him half as painfully as being relegated to a bad place in a programme.

And when the newspapers are ringing with thrilling accounts of wars and deeds of heroism, our friend is quite satisfied to cast a glance over the first page of the Daily Telegraph, where he no doubt reads to his entire satisfaction that he will sing "The Corsair's Lament" in Shepherd's-bush on the 11th inst., and in Wormwood-scrubs on the 15th.

I once heard an amusing story of an obscure singer who flourished a good many years ago, and who was enormously impressed with a sense of his own importance. He rarely got an engagement, and when he did his wife was reduced to tears till the concert was a thing of the past.

The arrangements of the whole household were upset. He invariably insisted on going to the seaside for at least three days before the concert, on account of the immense advantage to be got out of sleeping three nights in pure air.

Nothing that was provided for the meals of the rest of the family would do for him. Mysterious-looking dishes were brought to table of which the great man alone was allowed to partake, while at regular intervals he drank some strange fluid from an enormous bottle, which his children were forbidden to touch unless they were specially desirous of being whipped and sent to bed superfluous.

He also made a point of resting for three hours every afternoon previous to the all-important event, an arrangement which one would have hardly thought necessary, seeing that no power on earth could ever drag him out of bed before midday. He wouldn't even practice for fear of tiring his voice!

His repertoire consisted of four songs, which he had learned in a fit of tremendous energy when he was a young man.—Cornhill Magazine.

What "Alabastine" Is.

Alabastine is a durable and natural coating for walls and ceilings. It is entirely different from all "kalsomine" preparations. Alabastine comes in white or twelve beautiful tints, and is ready for use by adding cold water. It is put up in dry powder form in five-pound packages, with full directions on every package. Alabastine is handsome, cleanly and permanent. It can be re-coated and retinted at slight expense. Paint dealers and druggists sell Alabastine and furnish card of tints.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; times out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Any Girl Can Tell

Any Girl Can Tell

A physician who makes the test and is honest about it can tell you that, in many cases, the number of red corpuscles in the blood is doubled after a course of treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

That this means good blood may not be entirely clear from the doctor's statement, but any girl who has tried the pills can tell you that it means red lips, bright eyes, good appetite, absence of headache, and that it transforms the pale and sallow girl into a maiden who glows with the beauty which perfect health alone can give.

Mothers whose daughters grow debilitated as they pass from girlhood into womanhood should not neglect the pill best adapted for this particular ill.

Frank B. Trout, of 103 Griswold Ave., Detroit, Mich., says: "At the age of fourteen we had to take our daughter from school on account of ill health. She weighed only 90 pounds, was pale and sallow and the doctors said she had anemia. Finally we gave her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. When she had taken two boxes she was strong enough to leave her bed, and in less than six months was something like herself. To-day she is entirely cured, and is a big, strong, healthy girl, weighing 130 pounds, and has never had a sick day since."—Detroit Evening News.

The genuine Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold only in packages, the wrapper always bearing the full name. At all druggists, or direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N.Y. 50¢ per box.

WE CURE STRICTURE

Thousands of young and middle-aged men are troubled with this disease—many unconsciously. They may have a smarting sensation, small, twisting stream, sharp cutting pains at times, slight discharge, difficulty in commencing, weak organs, chills, and all the symptoms of nervous debility—they have STRICTURE. Don't let doctors experiment on you, by cutting, stretching, or tearing you. This will not cure you, as it will return. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT absorbs the stricture tissue; hence removes the stricture permanently. It can never return. No pain, no suffering, no detention from business by our method. The sexual organs are strengthened. The nerves are invigorated, and the bliss of manhood returns.

WE CURE GLEET

Thousands of young and middle-aged men are having their sexual vigor and vitality continually sapped by this disease. They are frequently unconscious of the cause of these symptoms. General Weakness, Unnatural Discharges, Paining Manhood, Nervousness, Poor Memory, Irritability, at times Smarting Sensation, Sinking Eyes, with dark circles, Weak Back, General Depression, Lack of Ambition, Varicose Veins, Shrunken Parts, etc. GLEET and STRICTURE may be the cause. Don't consult family doctors, as they have no experience in these special diseases—don't allow Quacks to experiment on you. Consult Specialists, who have made a life study of Diseases of Men and Women. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT will positively cure you. One thousand dollars for a case we accept for treatment and cannot cure. Terms moderate for a cure.

BRIDGE WRECK.

Four Men Killed and Six Injured, One of Whom Can Not Live.

Twenty-Five or Thirty Men Were on the Structure at the Time of the Collapse—Many of Them Were Carried Down in Wreck.

NEW YORK, April 12.—The temporary superstructure of the big Willis avenue bridge now being built over the Harlem river collapsed Tuesday afternoon, killing four men and seriously injuring six, one of whom may die. Twelve or more other workmen also received injuries of a more or less serious nature.

The accident occurred at 2:30 o'clock and was caused by too great a weight being put on the traveling derrick that crossed the superstructure.

The superstructure connected the north shore sustaining wall with a pier and was a flimsy affair stretching 300 feet across deep water, built in three sections, one above another to a height of about 60 feet. Over this a massive traveling crane or carrier was operated. Twenty-five to 30 men were employed on the structure when the collapse occurred. A heavy load of steel beams was being sent on the crane when the timbers gave way and the entire structure went down with a crash.

As the supporting timbers began to give, the heavily laden crane ran rapidly forward for a short distance and toppled into the river. As it went down, the upright crashed into the working men, striking the Delays and Beattie, killing them instantly and terribly mangled their bodies.

Many of the men were carried down in the wreck.

THEY CUT OFF THEIR QUEUES.

It Stopped the Chinese From Looting After the Filipino Insurgents Evacuated the Towns.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The incoming mails from Manila bring many queer stories connected with the war now in progress between the United States troops and insurgents. When MacArthur led the first onslaught to the north upon the insurgent stronghold the United States military commanders were amazed at the extent of the looting practices by the non-combatants. The Chinese took a leading part in this looting, beginning it before the retreating insurgent forces were fairly out of a town. They apparently had no conception of the enormity of their offence and it had been reluctantly concluded to shoot some of these Chinese looters for the sake of example, when a young officer cut off the queues of a dozen Chinese, who had been taken red handed, the looting stopped and the Chinese disappeared as if by magic from the whole province.

QUAY'S DEFENSE OUTLINED.

The Senator Himself Alleged Victim of a Conspiracy—Sensational Testimony Given Tuesday.

PHILADELPHIA, April 12.—Senator M. S. Quay's trial for alleged conspiracy and misuse of the state's money was resumed Tuesday morning. Ex-District Attorney Barlow, receiver of the People's bank, who was on the stand when court adjourned Monday, gave important testimony. He said that when he opened Cashier Hopkins' desk there were present in People's bank a special officer whose name he didn't remember; A. L. Taber, receiving teller of the bank, and a bank janitor. This is important because the defense endeavored to show that it was ex-Judge Gordon who directed that the desk be opened, their desire being to prove that the prosecution was the result of a conspiracy against Quay.

Barlow identified the books and papers which were found in Hopkins' desk. There was considerable tilting by the defense at this point. The object was to get Barlow to admit that a number of the bank's books were missing. The object of the defense in this was to prepare the way for another link in their "conspiracy against Quay" chain.

MORE TROOPS ARE NEEDED.

The Americans Capture Pagsajan and Lumban. Also Fifty Natives—"The Fighting Has Just Begun."

NEW YORK, April 12.—A special cable to the Herald Wednesday morning says:

"Our troops have captured Pagsajan and Lumban. A significant feature was the capture of 50 natives. More troops are needed here. The fighting has only just begun."

Italy has been formally invited to the disarmament conference at The Hague, and has appointed as one of her delegates Marquis Visconti Venosta, minister of foreign affairs in the late Rudini cabinet. This is held to imply that the Vatican will not be invited to send a delegate.

TO MUSTER OUT OFFICERS.

Under the Reorganization Act Many in the Volunteer Army Will Be Dropped From the United States Service.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The officers who are to be reappointed as brigadier generals under the reorganization act for duty as volunteers until July, 1901, are to go out immediately, some of them Wednesday, and all on or before the 17th of this month. They will not be disturbed in their present commands.

The others to be mustered out June 12 with the exception of Gen. Frank, who goes out May 12, and Gen. Otis on July 2. The order to those officers who are not to be reappointed directs those who are general officers to retain their present commands, and the others of the line are to return to their regiments. Their positions in the regular army are as follows:

Gen. Wade, brigadier, now president of the beef inquiry board; Gen. Anderson, brigadier, now on his way home to assume command of the department of the Columbia; Gen. Henry, brigadier, commanding the department of Porto Rico; Gen. Frank, colonel of the 1st artillery; Gen. Williston, colonel, 6th artillery; Gen. Carpenter, colonel, 5th cavalry; Gen. Sanger, lieutenant colonel, inspector general's department; Gen. Hasbrouck, lieutenant colonel of the 4th artillery; Gen. Gilmore, lieutenant colonel, adjutant general's department; Gen. Erns, lieutenant colonel, engineer corps; Gen. Otis, appointed from civil life, now returning to the United States from Manila; Gen. Humphrey, lieutenant colonel, quartermaster's department, on duty as chief quartermaster of Cuba.

Four volunteer major generals are retained in service. These are Gen. Otis, in command of the United States forces in the Philippines; Lawton and MacArthur, his chief generals in command of divisions, and Gen. Shafter, who remains in the department of California. He will retire in October as a brigadier general and may leave the service.

The present stations of those mustered out by order Wednesday, who will be retained as brigadier generals under the law of March 2, are:

Gen. Wilson, commanding the department of Cienfuegos; Gen. Lee, commanding the department of Havana; Gen. Wheeler, now in Washington, but probably going to the Philippines; Gen. Bates, commanding the department of Matanzas; Gen. Young, in command of troops being mustered out, headquarters at Augusta, Ga.; Gen. Chaffee, now in Washington, but attached to Gen. Brooke's headquarters; Gen. Ludlow, commanding the city of Havana; Gen. Wood, commanding the department of Santiago; Gen. Davis, member beef inquiry board; Gen. Schwan, assistant adjutant general; Gen. Fred D. Grant, in Porto Rico, but under orders to go to Manila; Gens. Hall, Wheaton, King, Hughes, Overhine and Hale in the Philippines.

WALLACE C. ANDREWS' WILL.

All of the Residue of Estate in Excess of $500,000 Goes to the Establishment of a School for Girls.

NEW YORK, April 12.—The will of the late Wallace C. Andrews, who with his wife perished in a fire at his home on Friday last, was filed for probate Wednesday. After making bequests of $10,000 to each of his sisters, the will provided that the residue of the estate shall be held in trust for the benefit of his wife during her life. Upon her death $500,000 shall be divided among six relatives named, among whom is Mrs. Gamaliel St. John, who perished in the fire, and Mr. Andrews' sisters, Lucy Ann Moore and Phoebe R. Moore. All of the residue of estate in excess of $500,000 shall go to the establishment of an institution for the education of girls. The institution shall be located in Willoughby, Lake county, O., on what is known as the "Williams farm."

Fire at Oskosh, Wis.

OSKOSH, Wis., April 12.—The Choate-Hollister furniture factory, four stories high, and employing 250 hands, was destroyed by fire Wednesday afternoon. A brisk wind caused the flames to spread rapidly, destroying the Reliance boiler works, the Star foundry and machine works, the American Refrigerating Co.'s plant, the Ozark flats and a score of smaller buildings. The loss so far is estimated at $200,000.

Hager Lodged in Jail.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 12.—Robert Hager, who killed Chas. M. Ball, a Boone county merchant, in a pistol duel Sunday, was lodged in jail at Madison Wednesday. Hager was thought to have been mortally wounded, but will recover. The affray was caused by Ball, who was a married man, paying attention to Hager's single sister.

Importing Colored Miners.

FURIOUS ATTACK

Filipinos Defeated With Heavy Loss—Three Killed and 20 Wounded.

Gen. Lawton is Pushing the Enemy Into the Mountains Beyond the City—His Success at Santa Cruz Was Overwhelming.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The war department has received a dispatch from Gen. Otis announcing the success of Gen. Lawton's campaign in the capture of Santa Cruz. He says that Gen. Lawton is pushing the rebels into the mountains beyond the city. Gen. Otis also informs the war department that the insurgents made an attack upon Gen. Wheaton's brigade, and that they were repulsed with heavy losses.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The following dispatch has been received from Gen. Otis:

MANILA, April 11.—Adjutant General, Washington: Insurgents attacked MacArthur's line of railway communication last night in considerable force; repulsed by Wheaton, with heavy loss. Wheaton's casualties, 3 killed, 20 wounded.

The attack of the insurgents upon the railway north of Manila indicates to the war department officials that while Gen. MacArthur was pushing north bodies of insurgents took to the mountains and jungles to the right of the railway, and have been watching an opportunity to capture the road at some point and thus cut off the main body of the army to the northward. The repulse of the natives shows that they had not sufficient force to accomplish their purpose.

MANILA, April 12.—At about midnight the rebels cut the telegraph line at several places between here and Malolos and signal fires were lighted and rockets sent up along the foothills to the right of the railroad. Later the enemy attacked the outposts of the Minnesota regiment between Bigaa and Boacav, five miles south of Malolos, killing two men and wounding 14.

Simultaneously the outposts of the Oregon regiment at Marilao, the next station on the way to Manila, were attacked with the result that three Americans were killed and two wounded. The loss of the enemy was ten killed and six wounded. The Americans also captured two prisoners. Troops were concentrated along the railroads as thickly as possible and the rebels were driven back to the foothills.

The road-bed of the railroad was damaged but it was repaired immediately, and traffic was soon resumed to Malolos.

MANILA, April 12.—It is supposed that many of the rebels who attacked Gen. MacArthur's line of communication and who were repulsed by the troops commanded by Gen. Wheaton were natives who entered the region in the guise of friendlies. They had seemingly secreted arms in several places, and fired on the Americans from the bushes at so close a range that they could be heard talking. One of the Filipinos yelled in English: "We will give you — Americans enough of this before we are through."

The rebels undermined the railroad at Marilao and unsprung the rails in an effort to wreck a train, while the railroad gang participated in the fight. The work of the rebels was discovered and repaired before a train arrived.

Gen. Wheaton is preparing to punish the Filipinos.

The military gunboats Napidan and Laguna de Bay have succeeded in entering the Santa Cruz river and have captured a small unarmed Spanish gunboat and three launches which they discovered there.

The military gunboat Oeste has brought 32 rebels wounded, one dead Filipino and six wounded Americans to the hospital. It is now known that 93 insurgents were killed during the capture of Santa Cruz.

SHE IS A RECORD BREAKER.

The Albatross, New English Torpedo Boat, Attains a Speed of Thirty-Three Knots an Hour.

LONDON, April 12.—The Albatross, a new type of torpedo boat destroyer, just built at the yards of Thornycroft & Co., at Chiswick, has attained a speed of 33 knots, making this record on her trial trip with the admiralty officials on board. This is the highest speed reached by any war vessel.

The destroyer is 227 feet long and 21 feet in the beam, with a draught of 8½ feet.

Gen. Wood as a Pattern.

HAVANA, April 12.—La Lucha prints a proclamation issued by Gen. Wood, at Santiago, giving the Cubans in that province all rights enjoyed under the constitution of the United States. La Lucha will ask Gen. Brooke to issue a similar proclamation here.

The New Lincoln Monument.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 12.—The house Tuesday passed a bill providing for the erection here of a new Lincoln monument at a cost of $1,000,000. The bill appropriates $500,000 and provides that $400,000 be raised by popular subscription. Congress will be asked to appropriate the balance.

A Queer Calendar Complication.

There were many dinners in honor of Thomas Jefferson, April 13th. Yet he was not born on that day. He was born on April 2d, 1743, old style, but owing to the new style of time computation beginning with the introduction of the Gregorian Calendar, 1752, at which time the Equinox had retrograded eleven days since the Council of Nice in A. D. 325, when the festival of Easter was established and the equinox occurred on March 21st, the dates of anniversaries originating prior to Pope Gregory's Calendar are determined by adding eleven days, hence Thomas Jefferson's birthday is properly observed on April 13th. This interesting fact is pointed out on pages 24 and 35 of the New York World Almanac a most interesting statistical book of over 500 pages. That newspaper offers to send the volume postage paid for 25c.

The Graves-Sommers Case.

Charles E. Sommers appeared in Court Wednesday at Frankfort with one of his attorneys, Senator Joe Blackburn, and gave bond in the sum of $500, with General Fayette Hewitt as surety, to appear for trial April 27. It is understood that Judge W. S. Pryor will also act as one of Sommers' attorneys. The grand jury is still in session, but notwithstanding all rumors no new indictments for bribery in the Railroad Convention have been returned.

SCINTILLATIONS.

An Interesting Jumble Of News And Comment.

Theatrical And Otherwise—Remarks In The Foyer.

A Madison county sucker sent $10 to an Eastern man who advertised a musical instrument that would play a hundred tunes, and received a twenty-five cent French harp with the following instructions: "Put it to your mouth, and if you know how, it will play all the tunes you want it to play." Moral, patronize home merchants.

The aggregation of barn stormers which began a week's engagement at the opera house Monday night, left Tuesday morning after giving an exceedingly weak performance. The crowd was billed as a Stock Company but should have been called a "Stick" Company.

Mr. Nat C. Goodwin, Lexington's favorite comedian, plays his annual engagement at the Lexington Opera House on the evening of Thursday, April 20. He will be seen in his newest and greatest success "Nathan Hale," a comedy drama by Clyde Fitch. Mr. Goodwin is supported by Maxine Elliott and the same company which presented the play during its long run in New York.

THE PASSION PLAY.

On Tuesday and Wednesday nights and Wednesday afternoon the drama "The Passion Play" will be shown at the Paris opera house by means of about thirty moving pictures projected by the Cinegraph. The pictures will be accompanied by illustrated sacred songs. The Passion Play is a representation of the drama produced at Oper Ammergau in Germany. The play is divided into eighteen acts and covers every period of the Savior's life. The action of the play lasts all day and is given on an uncovered stage.

Out in Kansas

lives a happy wife. She writes: "I have used Mother's Friend before two confinements. The last time I had twins, and was in labor only a few minutes. Suffered very little." The reason why does expectant mothers so much good is because it is an external liniment, to be applied upon the outside, where much of the strain comes. It helps because the pores of the skin readily absorb it, and it comes into direct contact with and is absorbed by the parts involved. Morning sickness is quickly banished, and nervousness is kept completely away. The sense of dread and foreboding is not experienced, even during labor itself. Confinement is short and almost without pain. Recovery is quick and sure. Best of all, Mother's Friend benefits the unborn just as much as the expectant mother, and when the little one comes it will be strong, lusty and healthy.

Druggists sell Mother's Friend for $1 a bottle. Send for our free book on the subject, finely illustrated.

Now and again you see two women passing down the street who look like sisters. You are astonished to learn that they are mother and daughter, and you realize that a woman at forty or forty-five ought to be at her finest and fairest. Why isn't it so?

The general health of woman is so intimately associated with the local health of the essentially feminine organs that there can be no rich check and round form where there are debilitating drains, and female weakness. Women who have suffered from these troubles have found prompt relief and cure in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives vigor and vitality to the organs of womanhood. It clears the complexion, brightens the eyes and reddens the cheeks.

No alcohol, opium or other narcotic is contained in "Favorite Prescription." Any sick woman may consult Doctor Pierce by letter, free. Every letter is held as sacredly confidential, and answered in a plain envelope. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"I commenced to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. Martha E. Barham, of Newville, Prince George Co., Va., "in June, 1897, also his 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and I cannot express the benefit I have received from these medicines. I was suffering with what the doctors called chronic indigestion, torpid liver and vertigo. I also suffered with female weakness. The doctor did not do me any good, so I wrote to you for advice. When I commenced to use the medicines I weighed only 112 pounds, now I weigh 140 pounds."

The B. Y. P. U. Meeting.

THE district meeting of the Baptist Young People's Union, which was held Tuesday and Wednesday at the Baptist Church in this city, proved to be a most interesting event. Quite a number of delegates were present from a distance and all were delighted with the meeting which has given new zeal to the societies, and with their stay in Paris.

The program, as printed in THE NEWS Tuesday, was very interesting, the address of Rev. Z. T. Cody and Rev. Crumpton, of Georgetown, and Rev. Prestridge, of Louisville, being especially entertaining.

The music by the choir was also a pleasing feature of the meeting. The duet by Miss Blanche Hudson and Mrs. Walter Clark was admirably sung. Miss Hudson's fine contralto was also heard in a beautiful solo Wednesday night. She has a voice of rare sweetness and splendid range, which has won much praise from music critics.

The church was decorated with beautiful flowers and plants and with mottoes and colors of the Society. The delegates were entertained by the various members of the Church.

State C. E. Convention.

THE citizens of Madisonville are making great preparations for the entertainment of the Ninth State C. E. Convention.

This convention will be the best the State has ever had. The program is the most complete ever furnished. Such men as William T. Ellis, Philadelphia, Pa.; Jas. Lewis Howe, Lexington, Va.; Z. T. Sweeney, formerly of Richmond, Va., and William Shaw, Boston, Mass., as well as some of the most finished speakers of our own State, have been secured for addresses.

E. O. Excell will conduct the music. Madisonville extends a cordial invitation, entertainment free. Every member of all the Young People's Societies of the State should attend this convention; it will be a spiritual feast.

Noted Shooting Tournament.

George Williams Clay, of this city, who is attending the tournament of the Interstate Trap Shooting Association at Elkwood Park, New Jersey, was one of the forty who divided $505 in a five bird event, $10 entrance, Monday. Dr. Carver, the famous wing shot, was one of the forty, as was also Jake Gay, of Clark. In the Powder Handicap, shot Tuesday, George Clay would have been one of thirty to divide the $2,130, had not one of his birds dropped out of bounds. The match was at fifteen live birds and there were 213 entries.

Won Honors In New York.

News comes from New York that Charles Garrard Daugherty, of this city, will graduate this year from Bellevue Medical College with the highest honors of his class. Doctor Daugherty is a son of Mr. C. A. Daugherty, of this city, and is a graduate of Kentucky University. He is a bright student and a splendid young gentleman who has a host of friends who will be glad to hear of his success. With the honors of the class Dr. Daugherty will get a choice hospital position in New York.

More Trouble in Dixville.

In Police Judge Chas. Skillman's court, at North Middletown, Tuesday, Allen King was convicted on a charge of flourishing a pistol in a threatening manner in Dixville, and fined fifty dollars and cost. James Wills was convicted of gaming at the same place and fined twenty dollars and costs. These young men were from Clark county. Rogers & Moore, of this city, represented County Attorney Dandon and prosecuted both cases.

Imperial spectacles and eyeglasses have perfect lenses, always perfectly centered, made of purest material, set in frames of the highest elasticity and consequently of great durability, united with the utmost lightness and elegance. When both frames and lenses are scientifically fitted by Dr. C. H. Bowen's system they always give satisfaction. These spectacles are perfect. Never buy cheap spectacles, nor of men who do not know how to fit spectacles. You will get poorly adjusted spectacles, or poor, imperfect lenses, and are better off without any glasses than with either of these defects. Buy Imperial spectacles of a reliable dealer, and they will last longer without change and be cheapest in the end.

We have engaged the services of Dr. C. H. Bowen who will visit our store on the second and last Thursdays of each month and invite all to call and have their eyes examined, for which there is no charge. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

AT A BANQUET.

Ambassador Choate Responds to a Toast to President McKinley.

An Understanding Between the Two Countries That Will Be a Benefit to Both and the World in General—Four Good Books.

LONDON, April 12.—Joseph Choate, the United States ambassador, was the principal guest at a banquet given Tuesday evening at the Reform club by Poulitney Bigelow. The company included Rr. Adm. Lord Charles Beresford, Baron Chesham, Baron Acton, Baron Monkswell, Baron Hobhouse, Lord Ronald Sutherland Gower, Sir Colin Scott Moncreiff, Gen. John Maurice, commander in the Woolwich district; Gilbert Parker, Anthony Hope, George Alfred Henry.

Among the table decorations were four books which Mr. Bigelow, in a felicitous speech, said had "done as much as anything to bring together our two nations." They were Capt. Alfred T. Mahan's "Influence of Sea Power in History," Sir George Otto Trevelyan's "History of the American Revolution," Mr. Henderson's "Life of Stonewall Jackson," and Prof. Bryce's "The American Commonwealth."

In responding to the toast to the queen, Lord Charles Beresford spoke of his cordial reception by the American people and President McKinley, which he believed, was recorded him "solely on account of the good feeling now existing between our two countries a feeling which will make for the peace of the world."

At the conclusion of his response, he proposed the health of President McKinley.

Mr. Choate, responding, alluded to his more than friendly reception here and said that while he did not believe the two countries would march shoulder to shoulder, as Lord Charles Beresford had suggested, he was convinced there would hereafter be a good understanding between the two, which would be a benefit to both and to the world in general.

"And not only the books," he said, "to which our host has alluded, have contributed to this happy result, but other books, some of them written by men present to-night and read by millions in America, have helped this understanding, while the American authors have likewise contributed their share. For instance, a book I now find on the tables of aristocratic houses in England is Mr. Dooley in Peace and War."

The Daily News, Wednesday morning, referring to Mr. Choate's speech at a dinner Tuesday night given him by Mr. Bigelow, says: "Mr. Choate's speech was quite unique among his public utterances. It was a model of impromptu eloquence, remarkable for the orderly skill which brought every passing circumstance and allusion into the service of brilliant improvisation."

FIRE DESTROYED IDLE HOUR.

William K. Vanderbilt's Country Home at Oakdale, L. I., Burned to the Ground—Loss Over $250,000.

NEW YORK, April 12.—William K. Vanderbilt's country home, Idle Hour, at Oakdale, L. I., was destroyed by fire about 3 o'clock Tuesday morning. No lives were lost, and no one was injured. W. K. Vanderbilt, jr., with his bride, formerly Miss Virginia Fair, were occupying the house at the time.

The fire is believed to have originated in the cellar accidentally. It broke out at 3:45 a. m., and in an hour, the magnificent structure, with all its valuable fittings, was destroyed.

Besides young Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt, there were 12 or 15 servants in the house. All got safely out. Mr. Vanderbilt and his bride came to New York on an early train.

The total loss is estimated at from $250,000 to $300,000. Idle Hour, which was one of the handsomest country houses on the south side of Long Island, was built for Wm. K. Vanderbilt about eight years ago. It was of Queen Ann architecture, two stories high, and was constructed of brick, stone and terra cotta.

The Berlin Treaty Stands.

BERLIN, April 12.—Ambassador White, since his interview with Emperor William, has conferred with the minister of foreign affairs and with the British ambassador regarding Samoa. The German government manifests a desire to abide by the Berlin agreement. A German official says his government has not received anything confirming the proclamation of Consul Rose. He says the statement that Rose is responsible for the trouble is an error. Germany looks upon Adm. Kautz's action as a violation of the Samoan compact.

Power Works Wrecked.

DALLAS, Tex., April 12.—Boilers of the Standard Electric Light and Power Co. exploded, wrecking the works. Pieces were carried a quarter of a mile. No lives were lost; property loss, $35,000.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—In view of the charges against Wilbur F. Wake-man, appraiser of merchandise at New York, it has been decided to make an investigation into the workings of the appraisers warehouse.

THE GEORGE MURDER TRIAL.

By Saturday It is Expected the State Will Finish Giving Testimony—Defense Has Many Witnesses.

CANTON, O., April 13.—Only a half day's session of court was held in the George trial Wednesday. Adjournment was taken at noon on account of the funeral of L. V. Bockius, father-in-law of Prosecuting Attorney Pomeroy, and a relative of Attorney Welty, for the defense.

Police Officer Rohn was again called to the witness box at the opening. His cross examination was in regard to Burdock burrs being found in a number of places except in the vacant lot in which the assassin was seen to enter.

CANTON, O., April 13.—It is the present expectation of the attorneys for the state that they will have all of their direct evidence before the jury this week providing a Saturday session is held which is probable, at least a half day's sessions to make up for time lost Wednesday.

The defense has a larger number of witnesses subpoenaed than the state and the length of time occupied can not be foretold until the rule of the court is promulgated as to how far they will be allowed to go into matter between Saxton and the Georges. There was a mere hint of limitation Wednesday in the holding of the court that the photographs of other women whom the defense are seeking to associate with Saxton, for the present at least could only be admitted for the purpose of attacking the identification of a woman in the incident being related by a witness who said she was Mrs. George.

THE DIFFICULTY IN SAMOA.

It is Thought in Diplomatic Circles That the Chance of a Settlement Would Not Be Destroyed.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—At the British and German embassies the news of another bloody conflict in Samoa was received with deep concern. Sir Julian Pauncefote expressed his profound regret at the collision, at a moment when he had hoped the trouble was in a fair way to adjustment. Mr. Eliot, the British high commissioner to Samoa, also deplored the event. The British officials were quite confident, however, that the chances of a settlement would not be destroyed by this affair, although they might be somewhat embarrassed.

The German ambassador, Dr. Von Holleben, stated that while he was entirely without official advice, he deeply regretted to hear that there had been further loss of life. In all diplomatic quarters there was a disposition to treat the news as grave, but not as disrupting the plans for a settlement.

STEAMER CITY OF ST. LOUIS.

The Vessel Released From Quarantine, Allowed to Land and Disembark Her Passengers.

ST. LOUIS, April 13.—The steamer City of St. Louis, which was stopped Tuesday night at quarantine by the health authorities because a Negro aboard had developed smallpox, was allowed to land Wednesday night and the passengers disembarked. Prior to the landing the boat was thoroughly fumigated and the passengers inspected.

William Betts, the Negro fireman who had contracted smallpox, was stationed on the lower deck behind the boilers and had not been near the passengers, consequently there is no fear of the disease spreading. Betts was kept at quarantine. He was the only one aboard the boat detained.

ENGLISH PAPER'S OPINION.

London Standard Says the Question is One That Can Not Be Allowed to Involve Germany in a Quarrel.

LONDON, April 13.—The Standard says of the Samoan trouble: "It is true that British and American blood has been shed and that British and American flags have been fired upon, and for this an account must be rendered. But the larger question of a permanent settlement regarding Samoa and the possible revision of the treaty remains for future consideration. This question is not one that can be allowed to involve Germany in a serious quarrel with two powers with whom she has the strongest reason for wishing to remain on terms of amity."

The Order Revoked.

COLUMBUS, O., April 13.—Judge Bigger Wednesday decided that the Columbus Central street railway could not be sold until the charge that some of the $1,500,000 bonds of the company had been fraudulently issued had been investigated. Recently the court ordered the sale of the road, but later the order was revoked. It will be several months now before the road can be sold.

Miner Burned to Death.

OVER WORK MAKES WEAK KIDNEYS.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

YOUR KIDNEYS ARE YOUR BLOOD FILTERS.

A Prompt Way to Cure Yourself When Symptoms Show That Your Kidneys Are Out Of Order.

To Test the Wonderful Merits of the Great Modern Discovery, Swamp-Root, Every Reader May Have a Sample Bottle Sent Absolutely Free By Mail.

The way to be well is to pay attention to your kidneys.

They are the most important organs of the body—the blood filters.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys strain or filter out the impurities in the blood—that is their work.

Purifying your blood is not a question of taking a laxative of physic.

Does your blood run through your bowels?

What the bowel-cleaner does is to throw out the poisons confined in your bowels ready for absorption into your blood, but the poisons which are already in your blood, causing your present sickness, it leaves there.

There is no other way of purifying your blood except by means of your kidneys.

That is why bowel-cleaners fail to do their work—they fail to help the kidneys.

When you are sick, then, no matter what you think the name of your disease is, the first thing you should do is to afford aid to your kidneys by using Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root the great Kidney Remedy.

In taking Swamp-Root you afford natural help to nature, for Swamp-Root is the most perfect healer and gentle aid to the kidneys that is known to medical science.

Dr. Kilmer, the eminent physician, and specialist, has attained a far-famed reputation through the discovery and marvelous success of Swamp-Root in purifying the blood, and thereby curing chronic and dangerous diseases, caused by sick kidneys, of which some of the symptoms are given below.

Pain or dull ache in back or head, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervousness, dizziness, irregular heart, sleeplessness, sallow complexion, dropsy, irritability, loss of ambition, obliged to pass water often during the day, and to get up many times at night, and all kinds of kidney, bladder and uric acid troubles.

Swamp-Root is sold by all dealers, in fifty-cent or one-dollar bottles. Make a note of the name, SWAMP-ROOT, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and remember it is prepared only by Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

To prove the wonderful merits of his great discovery he now offers to every reader of this paper a prepaid, free sample bottle of Swamp-Root, which he will send to any address, free by mail.

A book about Health, Diet and Disease as Related to your Kidneys and giving some of the thousands upon thousands of testimonial letters received from the sufferers cured, also sent free with the sample bottle.

The great discovery, Swamp-Root, is so remarkably successful that our readers are advised to write for a sample bottle and to be sure and mention this paper when sending their addresses to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

A WISH GRATIFIED.

The Slangy Young Man's Sire Gives Him the Wherewithal to "Raise the Dough."

"My son," said the old gentleman who very properly objects to slang, "I have been thinking over your request this morning, and I am inclined to think I may have been a little hasty in my decision."

"Thank you, governor."

"I believe in clearly understanding a case before reopening it. Now, as I remember the conversation, your call at the office was prompted by a desire to raise the dough."

"Yes, that is to say—"

"Never mind. I ask for no explanations. I do not seek to inquire into all the trivial whims of youth. I accept them as I do the wild flowers among the grain. They are useless, but they are cheering to contemplate. There are many things I do not understand, among them being golf, lawn tennis and football. But I do not assume to interfere with your innocent diversion any more than I undertake to keep track of the current fad. If you want to give up experiments with the chafing dish and go to work with an oven, I have no objection to offer, nor will I let the mere matter of expense stand in your way. I was rather busy when you spoke to me about raising the dough this morning. I know that I spoke shortly; but my heart is in the right place, and I am too generous and indulgent to deny your slightest request. Here, my boy, is two cents. Go and buy yourself a cake of yeast."—Washington Star.

A Funny Gift.

Among the presents lately showered upon a rural bride was one that was the gift of an old lady in the neighborhood, with whom both bride and groom were prime favorites.

Some years ago the old lady accumulated a supply of cardboard mottoes, which she worked and had framed as occasion arose. In cheerful reds and blues, suspended by a cord of the same colors, over the table on which the other presents were grouped, hung the motto "Fight on, Fight over."—Detroit Free Press.

"I expect to be a better man, of course, but you see I ain't been to town before in ten years, and I was calkylatin' to have a little fun first."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

KATY IN LITERATURE.

A Snatch of Story Wherein the "Choo-Choo" Indulge in a Few Puffs of Complaint.

He (the switch engine) gave a vigorous push to the west-bound car as he spoke, and started back with a snort of surprise, for the car was an old friend—an M. K. T. box-car.

"Jack my drivers, but its homeless Katy! Why, Katy, ain't there no getting you back to your friends? There's 40 chasers out for you from your road, if there's one. Who is holding you now?"

"Wish I knew," whimpered homeless Katy. "I belong in Persons. I've only been out ten months, but I'm just achin' home-sick; I want to be in Kansas where the sunflowers bloom."

"Yard's full of 'em," said the switch engine explained to 307. "Dunno quite how our men fix it. Swap around, I guess; anyhow I've done my duty. She's on her way to Kansas via Chicago, but I'll lay my next holier shell'll be held there to wait conscience's convenience, and sent back to us with wheat in the fall."—From Rudyard Kipling's "007."

Artie Exploration.

For 45 years we had been imprisoned by the ice, and our situation was becoming desperate. It was not likely that we could hold out 45 years longer.

In this juncture a ship appeared. An officer disembarked and came to us.

"Who are you?" he asked anxiously.

"We are the Smith party," we replied.

"You, doubtless, are our relief expedition," "No," said the officer. "The Jones party are our relief expedition. We are the relief expedition of the Jones party. So long. Merciful heavens! If we were not rescued soon, we should be too old to lecture!"—Detroit Journal.

His Successful Effort.

"I saw you at a suburban train last night and you seemed to be greatly amused at something an old gentleman was telling you."

SAVAGES' WORK.

Heads of American and English Officers Cut Off by Treacherous Samoans.

Lieuts. Freeman, and Lansdale and Ensign Monahan, of the Cruiser Philadelphia Among the Killed—Samoans Loss 45 Killed.

AUCKLAND, N. Z., April 13.—Dispatches received here from Apia, Samoa, April 1, say that a party of 105 American and British sailors were forced to retreat to the beach, after having been caught in ambush by about 800 warriors on a German plantation on that date. The expedition was led by Lieut. A. H. Freeman, of the British third-class cruiser Tauranga. Lieut. Freeman and Lieut. P. L. Lansdale, of the United States cruiser Philadelphia, and Ensign J. Monahan, of the United States cruiser Philadelphia, were left dead on the field. Ensign Monahan remained to assist Lansdale and was shot in retreating.

Two British and two American sailors were also killed. The natives engaged were some of Mataafa's warriors. They severed the heads of the British and American officers killed.

Priests of the French mission afterwards brought the heads into Apia. The manager of the German plantation has been arrested and detained on board the Tauranga, on affidavits declaring that he was seen urging the rebels to fight.

In a previous engagement 27 of Mataafa's warriors were killed and there were no casualties among the European forces.

Further advices from Apia, Samoa, say that on the arrival of the British cruiser Tauranga at Apia, the British and American consuls issued a proclamation to give Mataafa a last chance, and that French priests also used their influence, but all efforts failed and the rebels continued their depredations. Property was destroyed and bridges and roads were barricaded. On March 29 the enemy was sighted at Maguigi and machine guns and a seven-pounder were used. The friendly also attacked the enemy during the latter's retreat, and several rebels were killed or wounded. The friendly carried one head through Apia, which made Capt. Stuart so furious that he went to the king and threatened to shoot any man found taking heads. The king then issued a proclamation forbidding the practice.

The German consul wrote to Adm. Kautz asking if two great Christian nations approved of this inhuman and barbarous practice against the laws of Christianity and the decree of the supreme court. The admiral replied, agreeing with the consul as to the inhumanity of the practice, and pointed out that had the German consul upheld the decree of the supreme court of January there would have been no bloodshed, that the custom was an old Samoan one, but first made known to the world ten years ago, when the 'heads' of honest German soldiers were cut off by the barbarous Chief Mataafa, whom the representative of the great Christian nation, Germany, is now supporting.

Expeditions in armed cutters belonging to the Tauranga and Porpoise are doing considerable execution against Mataafa's stronghold along the coast. The British forces are being assisted by 100 Samoans. About 46 of Mataafa's boats and several villages have been destroyed. In the meantime flying columns are being sent daily along the roads and through the bush.

On April 1 a force of 214 British and Americans and 150 friendly was surprised in ambush at the German plantation of Vasileo. The rebel force opened fire on the rear, left flank and front of the Anglo-American force. The friendly bolted, but the marines and bluejackets stood their ground splendidly. Americans and British firing shoulder to shoulder.

The Colt automatic gun with the landing party became jammed, and the Americans and British were practically at the mercy of the rebels. But "retreat" was sounded three times before the marines and bluejackets retired.

Lieut. Angel H. Freeman, first lieutenant of the Tauranga, who was in command of the allied force, was shot through the heart.

Lieut. Philip Lanhorn Lansdale, of the United States cruiser Philadelphia, had his leg shattered while endeavoring to fix the jammed gun.

Seaman Hunt, of the British cruiser Porpoise, had an extraordinary escape. He remained with Lieut. Lansdale until clubbed over the head and knocked senseless. The bluejacket revived as the natives were cutting off his right ear and were turning him over in order to cut off his left ear. At this juncture a shell from the British cruiser Boyalst burst on the battlefield, scattering the rebels, and Hunt succeeded in escaping to the beach, although severely stabbed in one foot.

The same night the friendly found the bodies of all the officers, headless. The bodies were buried with all honors at Mulinu on Easter Sunday. Their heads were subsequently brought in by some French priests and the graves were reopened and the heads buried with the bodies.

Lieuts. Freeman and Lansdale were capable and popular officers. The former was single and the latter was married in June.

The officers who returned are Lieut. George E. Cave, of the Porpoise, and Lieut. C. M. Perkins, of the Philadelphia. All behaved splendidly. Lieut. Cave took command of the retreat.

Capt. Sturdee, of the Porpoise, was away on an expedition with his cruiser, and Gaunt's brigade was also absent on duty. The loss of the enemy is not known, but probably 50 of the rebels were killed and many were wounded. The bodies of three rebels were found near where Lieut. Lansdale and Ensign Monahan, of the Philadelphia, were killed. The priests buried 38 rebels and much blood was seen on the road over which the Mataafans had been dragging their dead and wounded. There were also pools of blood behind the coconut trees, the bullets from the American and British rifles going right through thick trees and killing men hiding behind them. Some of the rebels fired from the tops of coconut palms.

The rebels opened fire near the town Tuesday evening.

It is now proposed to summon another war ship, to distribute more arms among the friendly and to import additional friendly from Tutuila. It is also suggested that troops might be obtained from New Zealand or Sydney, N. S. W.

If a sufficient quantity of arms could be obtained about 2,000 friendly could be used against the Mataafans. But they are not brave and have not shown fighting qualities, excepting those with Gaunt's brigade, and that force may not accomplish much.

Adm. Kautz, Capt. E. White, of the Philadelphia, and the American officers generally have earned golden opinions, as have Capt. Stuart and Sturdee, of the British navy. They are doing everything possible and everyone recognizes that better men could not be handling the situation.

The Samoans say that Mataafa on three occasions had resolved to surrender, but the German consul, Herr Rose, advised him not to do so and he now says he will never give in, but will fight to the death.

There is constant fighting with the natives around Apia, and the life of no European in the islands is safe.

Lieut. Phillip Lanhorn Lansdale was born in the District of Columbia, February 15, 1858, and entered the naval academy June 6, 1873. He graduated in 1878 and was promoted ensign in 1881, and after duty at the Washington navy yard, was transferred to the Philadelphia in June, 1890. He was made lieutenant junior grade, in 1893. He was in charge of the caravels at the World's fair in Chicago, and after receiving his full lieutenantcy was a short time on the battle ship Massachusetts.

Ensign John B. Monahan was appointed to the naval academy as a cadet from the state of Washington, entering Annapolis on September 7, 1891. He graduated and was made an ensign in July, 1897, being assigned to the Philadelphia, to which vessel he was attached up to the time of his death.

BERLIN, April 13.—In an interview a foreign official, who is authorized to speak for the minister of foreign affairs, said Wednesday:

"We have received several official dispatches saying that the Tatu people for a fortnight past have been raiding and pillaging around Apia, destroying mainly German property. They are armed with weapons furnished by the British."

"We also received to-day a dispatch from the commander of the Falke, confirming the ambush and the loss of the Americans and British. The ambushade may possibly have been on a German plantation, as nearly all the property around Apia is German. The government regrets extremely the occurrence, for which, however, it is in no way to blame. Such hostile encounters must naturally be expected when the Anglo-American action in crowning Tatu has made nine-tenths of the Samoans their enemies. It shows strongly how necessary is the prompt departure of the commission with adequate instructions. Although the German commissioner has not yet been formally appointed he is ready to start for Samoa within half an hour of the three governments clearly defining the mode of operation and the powers of the commission. Why does England needlessly delay agreeing? It is the only way to prevent ceaseless bloodshed in Samoa. Unless the commission starts soon such encounters may recur any day."

"Of course, now that fresh blood has been spilled, the excitement of the Americans and British may increase. But Germany is blameless. The same thing happened to our men in 1888. The Samoans also cut off the heads of the German victims then. That is one of the Samoans' pleasant habits. If Adm. Kautz had the power to re-establish peace all might be well. But he needs a much stronger force than now available under his and the British command at Apia to subdue Mataafa and his warlike hosts."

Increased Wages.

LEBANON, Pa., April 13.—The Pennsylvania Bolt and Nut works and the East Lebanon Iron Co. have posted notices of a second increase of ten per cent. in the wages of their employees, to take effect May 1. The Lebanon Manufacturing Co. has increased the wages of its laborers ten per cent.

THE WHOLE SYSTEM

May Become Invaded by Catarrh —General Lewis' Case.

Hon. James Lewis, Surveyor General of Louisiana.

Pe-ru-na Drug Mfg Co., Columbus, O.: "Gentlemen—I have used Pe-ru-na for a short time and can cheerfully recommend it as being all you represent and wish every man who is suffering with catarrh could know of its great value. Should I at any future time have occasion to recommend a treatment of your kind, rest assured that yours will be the one. Gratefully yours, James Lewis."

Wherever the catarrh is, there is sure to be a waste of mucus. The mucus is as precious as blood. It is blood, in fact. It is blood plasma—blood with the corpuscles removed. To stop this waste, you must stop this catarrh. A course of treatment with Pe-ru-na never fails to do this.

Send for free catarrh book. Address The Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Co., Columbus, Ohio.

HEALTH and beauty are the glories of perfect womanhood.

Women who suffer constantly with weakness peculiar to their sex cannot retain their beauty. Preservation of pretty features and rounded form is a duty women owe to themselves. The mark of excessive monthly suffering is a familiar one in the faces of young American women.

Don't wait, young women, until your good looks are gone past recall. Consult Mrs. Pinkham at the start. Write to her at Lynn, Mass.

MISS EDNA ELLIS, Higginsport, Ohio, writes: "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I am a school teacher and had suffered untold agony during my menstrual periods for ten years. My nervous system was almost a wreck. I suffered with pain in my side and had almost every ill human flesh is heir to. I had taken treatment from a number of physicians who gave me no relief. In fact one eminent specialist said no medicine could help me, I must submit to an operation. At my mother's request, I wrote to Mrs. Pinkham stating my case in every particular and received a prompt reply. I followed the advice given me and now I suffer no more during menses. If anyone cares to know more about my case, I will cheerfully answer all letters."

MISS KATE COOK, 16 Addison St., Mt. Jackson, Ind., writes: "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I am by occupation a school teacher, and for a long while suffered with painful menstruation and nervousness. I have received more benefit from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound than from all remedies that I have ever tried."

KIPLING AS A REPORTER.

"You Have Genius," Remarkd the City Editor, "But—" and Let Him Go.

It is not kind of the San Francisco editor who rejected "The Counting of Dinah Shadd," says a writer in Leslie's Weekly, to recall that he based his refusal on the ground that the story was scarcely equal to the standard of merit demanded by the magazine. Those were the days when Kipling was a struggling reporter.

In this connection there is recalled the story of Kipling's third and last assignment to a news story. A big insurance fraud had been unearthed and exposed by the paper to which Kipling was attached. Kipling was assigned to get a "second-day story" on the man chiefly involved in the fraud, and who was not yet arrested. Late in the afternoon he walked into the office with facts sufficient to justify a three-column-space allowance. But somehow his own personality persisted in obtruding itself into the facts, and he presently drifted into a scathing satire on the offender, written in the inimitable pen which has since made him famous.

The city editor counted exactly 15 libel suits and about half a million dollars in damages in that story, and next morning Mr. Kipling was requested to transfer his operations to another field. Said the editor, in bidding him good-by:

"You have genius. You will some day make a great name, though I may not live to see it. But fate never intended you for the mechanism of news."

IN FAVOR OF THE CENTAUR CO.

Judge Adams Granted an Injunction in the Castoria Case.

In the United States Circuit Court Tuesday afternoon Judge Adams handed down an opinion in the suit of the Centaur Company, of New York City, against Samuel W. Eslinger, of St. Louis, the suit being for an injunction to restrain the defendant from using the plaintiff's remedy, "Castoria."

It was stated in complainant's bill that the Centaur Company, of which Charles H. Fletcher is president, is the sole manufacturer of "Castoria," and alleged that the defendant had been selling medicine in packages closely resembling those of the New York firm. A preliminary injunction was prayed for to restrain the defendants from in any way pirating upon the complainant's business. The bill averred that the damages sustained were large, but could not be estimated. The plea of the defendant was that he had a right to do as he had done.

Evidence in the case was taken by affidavits. Judge Adams, without leaving the bench, delivered an opinion in which he denounced imitators of well-known medicines. He said the practice was a species of robbery and he would grant the injunction sought.

The medicine "Castoria" was at first protected by patent and later by label and trade mark. The plaintiff claimed that other decisions similar to the one handed down yesterday, cases being innumerable in Chicago, Indianapolis, District of Columbia, Texas and New Jersey, in all of which the courts granted injunctions.

The attorneys in this suit were Sedon and Blair of St. Louis, and F. H. Scott, of Chicago, for the complainants, and Michael Kinnely for the defendant. The preliminary injunction is understood to settle the point of law involved, but the question of damages will be adjudged when the case has its final hearing.

The bottles of the original "Castoria" manufactured by the Centaur Company bear the facsimile signature of the president, Charles H. Fletcher, on the label, while the bottles sold by the defendant company bore on the label the words "Pitcher's Baby Castoria." It is said that criminal proceedings will follow, and that several arrests may be made.

The Pioneer Medicine is Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Before sarsaparillas were known, fifty years ago, it began its work. Since then you can count the sarsaparillas by the thousands with every variation of imitation of the original, except one. They have never been able to imitate the quality of the pioneer. When you see Ayer's on a bottle of sarsaparilla that is enough; you can have confidence at once. If you want an experiment, buy anybody's Sarsaparilla; if you want a cure, you must buy

RAW AS BEEF FROM ECZEMA!

No Torture Equal to the Itching and Burning of This Fearful Disease.

Eczema—which is more than skin-deep, and can not be reached by local applications of ointments, salves, etc., applied to the surface. The disease itself, the real cause of the trouble, is in the blood, although all suffering is produced through the skin; the only way to reach the disease, therefore, is through the blood.

Mr. Phil T. Jones, of Mixersville, Ind., writes:

"I had Eczema thirty years, and after a great deal of treatment my leg was so raw and sore that it gave me constant pain. It finally broke into a running sore, and began to spread and grow worse. For the past five or six years I have suffered untold agony and had given up all hope of ever being free from the disease, as I have been treated by some of the best physicians and have taken many blood medicines, all in vain. With little faith left I began to take S. S. S., and it apparently made the Eczema worse, but I knew that this was the way the remedy got rid of the poison. Continuing S. S. S., the sore healed up entirely, the skin became clear and smooth, and I was cured perfectly."

Eczema is an obstinate disease and can not be cured by a remedy which is only a tonic. Swift's Specific——is superior to other blood remedies because it cures diseases which they can not reach. It goes to the bottom—to the cause of the disease—and will cure the worst case of Eczema, no matter what other treatment has failed. It is the only blood remedy guaranteed to be free from potash, mercury or any other mineral, and never fails to cure Eczema, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison, Cancer, Tetters, Rheumatism, Open Sores, Ulcers, Boils, etc. Insist upon S. S. S.; nothing can take its place.

S. S. S. FOR THE BLOOD

Books on these diseases will be mailed free to any address by Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Georgia.

WINE OF CARDUI FOR ALL WOMEN

NINE-TENTHS of all the pain and sickness from which women suffer is caused by weakness or derangement in the organs of menstruation. Nearly always when a woman is not well these organs are affected. But when they are strong and healthy a woman is very seldom sick.

Wine of Cardui

Is nature's provision for the regulation of the menstrual function. It cures all "female troubles." It is equally effective for the girl in her teens, the young wife with domestic and maternal cares, and the woman approaching the period known as the "Change of Life." They all need it. They are all benefitted by it.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

THOS. J. COOPER, Tupelo, Miss., says: "My sister suffered from very irregular and painful menstruation and doctors could not relieve her. Wine of Cardui entirely cured her and also helped my mother through the Change of Life."
